

LibraryCrunch

Service for the Next Generation Library: A Library 2.0 Perspective by Michael Casey

« Library 2.0 Lens on Squidoo | Main | Wired: Public Library Geeks Take Web 2.0 to the Stacks »

The Five Blogs Meme

Helene over at LibraryBytes tagged me with this latest meme that asks what my five favorite non-biblioblogs are right now. Well, here we go:

My coworker has a cool new cheese blog she and her boyfriend have started writing called Mia and Patrick's Cheese Diary. Their reviews are so fun to read that I've almost forgiven Patrick for his dislike of Brie!

One of the better liberal political blogs I read is over at Daily Kos.

It's not updated daily but Eric Asimov's The Pour is one of the better wine blogs I enjoy. Asimov, the chief wine critic for the New York Times, also sometimes writes about beer and food.

Michaela, a fellow Penn State alum, has a really great travel blog that she's been writing for a while now over at Thoughts from the Girl Next Door. Michaela has been doing wonderful things with international nonprofits and she makes Penn State proud.

Finally, Richard MacManus over at the Read/Write Web has always been my favorite web 2.0 blogger.

Thanks for the tag Helene (and thanks Rachel for starting this whole thing)! I'm going to tag Karen Schneider, Leslie Burger, David King \(on his new Mac\), John Blyberg, and Nancy Down over at The "M" Word. Forgive me if you've already been tagged!

Posted by Michael on March 24, 2007 01:28 PM | Permalink

→ Comments

Thanks for the tag! Love the cheese blog :-) I've posted mine with a bit of a Bowie concert for some atmosphere. -Nancy

Posted by: Nancy Dowd | March 25, 2007 12:00 PM