

LibraryCrunch

Service for the Next Generation Library: A Library 2.0 Perspective by Michael Casey

« Look! A Kitty! \(And a cool new book.\) » | Main | Keeping Up and Making Time »

24 hours of flickr

24 hours of flickr

Originally uploaded by Michael Casey.

What happens around the world in one day? In a word – life. Here on Flickr, photographers are sharing what they see: snapping daily moments, recording history, telling stories, capturing beauty.

To celebrate this global community, we invite you to join us in "24 Hours of Flickr" – a day-long global photo project. On May 5, 2007, grab your camera and whatever else you need, and chronicle your day in pictures. The group's photos will be featured at Flickr events around the world this summer and in a companion book, which will contain a selection of photographs chosen from the group (more about this soon!).

Posted by Michael on April 27, 2007 09:36 PM | Permalink

→ Comments

Sounds like a great idea, Michael. I'm hoping to do a similar project (though much much smaller in scale) within our county for our library Flickr page.

On my personal page I enjoy seeing the 24 hours pass in rythm: I wake to see what my Australian friends loaded as I slept, later see my European friends join in, and end the day with posts from California, Washington, and Alaska.

I'll mark May 5th on my calendar. Thanks!

Posted by: Steve Campion | April 28, 2007 03:34 AM

→ Post a comment

(If you haven't left a comment here before, you may need to be approved by the site owner before your comment will appear. Until then, it won't appear on the entry. Thanks for waiting.)

Name:

Email Address:

URL:

☐ Remember personal info?

Comments:

Preview

Post